

Welcome to careers
on the cutting edge.
Create new value for the world at AGC

Why join AGC

This is your chance to be part of an inclusive, international business focused on excellence and innovation. More than this, it's your opportunity to help us change the world through unique materials technologies. We offer roles and challenges that will enrich your abilities and experience within a collaborative, respectful culture. Our commitment to integrity drives us to inspire progress by doing the right thing. This is where you can make your career an everyday essential part of the world.

Pursue excellence with a world leader

Continuous learning is a standout feature of being at AGC. You never stop developing through the challenge in your daily work. You also benefit from our focus on learning & development – there are many internal training programmes and external courses are sponsored. There is also much to learn from our AGC Institute, and research networking groups. Internal mobility and promotion are high on the agenda.

Change the way you see your career

Our focus on innovation puts you at the cutting-edge of customer-centric materials, technological, product and service design. This creates the ideal conditions for you to grow throughout your career. Your perspective will be broader, your skills will be enhanced, and your ability to create and deliver world-class solutions will accelerate. It's time to redefine your understanding of what you can accomplish.

Welcome to a truly inclusive culture

Dedicated to innovation, we not only embrace the diversity of our 55,000+ people but depend on it. We welcome people and respect them as individuals whatever their age, culture, gender, nationality, religion, physical abilities or sexual orientations. By working closely with so many different people, you will grow as a professional and learn more about others, the wider world and yourself.

Enhance daily life for millions

As a global citizen, we understand our responsibilities to the planet, to society and to our employees. How will you help improve the lives of countless people around the globe? By helping us to create ever more efficient energy-saving solutions, while ensuring fair-trade, offering value to customers, and limiting the environmental impact of our activities.
